RAISING HEALTH & SAFETY STANDARDS GLOBALLY FOR 2012 AND BEYOND

Safety issues within the oil and gas industry remain under a high level of scrutiny following several high profile accidents. As a result oil and gas companies have to ensure that rigorous safety measures are implemented and reassessed accordingly.

The 2nd Annual Global Oil & Gas Health & Safety Summit will tackle the critical questions: why are we not learning from our mistakes and what can we do to translate the lessons learnt from recent accidents into improving HSE systems?

Global industry attendance

The summit is attended by over 120 global senior HSE executives from both the upstream and downstream sectors who are discussing strategies to increase health and safety performance and minimise accidents through risk assessment, culture change, HSE process development, human factor determinants, KPI's and contractor management.

Innovative HSE strategies

Through industry case studies, roundtable discussions, panel debates and workshops which all focus on practical policies and ideas, decision makers from IOCs, NOCs, oil field service providers and contractors will strategise on how to minimise physical, operational and reputational risk to their workforce and companies by implementing and running a cutting-edge HSE system.

Minimising accidents

Ensure you are armed with all the up-to-the-minute HSE information to enable you to guarantee that your employees and company are able to minimise and avoid accidents which impact production and working conditions. Utilize this summit to take ownership of your HSE process in order to implement proactive systems which dramatically improve your health and safety operations.

We look forward to welcoming you to the 2nd Annual Global Oil & Gas Health & Safety Summit in Amsterdam.
